

Breezy Manners of American Boys Startle Germans

BERLIN.—Formality and ceremony received rough jolts during a tour of Germany completed by fifteen American farmer boys who came to this country with a shipload of milk cows given to Germany by farmers in the United States. The young men have returned here after a sixteen day trip to principal cities, during which they saw Germany and her people and enjoyed themselves in their own way. The Americans are natives of Indiana, Kansas and Texas, and they brought the unconventional atmosphere of their prairies.

Greet Farmers
Reception committees at stations, expecting to welcome a frock-coated, silk-hatted delegation, were astonished to see the breezy Americans swarm off their special car and ignoring dignified burgomasters and officials, extend their hands in greeting to farmers, shouting:

"You fellows work; your hands are calloused."
In some places there was outspoken astonishment at the unconventional manner of the Americans, and their disregard of the feelings of high officials. But W. E. Schmidt, representative of the German Red Cross, who accompanied the Americans, was always at hand to explain matters.

A Matter of Viewpoint
"Germans don't understand them," he said. "They are awfully decent fellows, and polite in their way, too. Every man in a party riding on a street car last night got up and gave women their seats. The Germans kept their seats. The trouble was merely a matter of viewpoint."

Swap Farm Stories
Stories of the tremendous size of farms in the Mississippi valley were told Herr Schmidt by the visitors who could not refrain from narrating anecdotes that would sound quite venerable in America. They told him about the man whose farm was so large that he began planting corn at one end of a field in the spring and found before he reached the other end that the corn harvest had begun. Herr Schmidt retorted by promising to show them the field of Templehof, near Berlin, "where people equipped with spoons go out in the morning to fill their buckets with maple syrup."

Too Much Misery
The Americans, after given their first sight of Germany, declared they liked the country, but Peter Andres of Thibing, Kansas, summed up the sentiments of the party by saying: "There is too much misery here. There are too many rich and too many poor. But then, it seems the people must be one or the other. Kansas suits me."

The German Red Cross does not plan to take other American parties on tours of the country, Herr Schmidt said.

"Don't you like Americans?" he was asked.
"Yes, but we haven't enough money," he replied. "The American dairy cattle company, which forwarded the cows, asked us to do this so the boys could report on conditions."

Cows Sorely Needed
Asked if what they had seen would appear to justify the gift of the cattle to Germany—several of the Americans said:
"We have had plenty to eat and have been banqueted everywhere, but everywhere we have seen hungry children and tubercular adults who need milk."

"If I had a hundred cows," continued one of them, "I would give them all to Germany."
His companions nodded agreement with the words.

ASSEMBLY SENDS PROHIBITION BILL TO THIRD READING

Four Amendments Sponsored by Dry Element Adopted Before Passage of Bill

ACCEPT FEDERAL DEFINITION OF INTOXICATING LIQUOR

Wets Fail in Attempt to Refer Bill to the People

MADISON, Wis.—The assembly Thursday approved the Matheeson prohibition bill by a vote of 52 to 41 and sent it on to third reading, rejecting the recommendation of the committee on state affairs that it be postponed indefinitely.

Four amendments, sponsored by Mr. Matheeson and C. E. Hanson, both dries, were adopted, while four others supported by the wets all failed, by close votes, one pulling down a tie vote.

Accept U. S. Definition
Under the first amendment the federal definition of intoxicating liquor will be accepted in Wisconsin, instead of the flat declaration of the original bill that more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume makes a drink intoxicating. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 52 to 8.

Another amendment will permit beer manufacturers to make real beer and then reduce its alcoholic content to conform to the law. Two amendments by Mr. Matheeson are designed to exempt religious bodies buying wine for religious purposes from the operation of the act, and to correct a minor typographical error.

Fight on Amendments
The real fight broke when Assemblyman L. H. Cook of Marathon offered two amendments, one to eliminate the provision for examination by law officers of persons under suspicion, and the taking of testimony under oath, and the other to reduce the appropriation for operation of the enforcement commission from $60,000 in any one year to $15,000.

The dries moved that the amendment be indefinitely postponed but lost by one vote, 48 to 47. The wets then moved to adopt but lost when a tie vote, 47 to 47, was recorded.

The second amendment to reduce the appropriation for operating expenses was rejected, 53 to 42.

Ask Retiree
The opponents of the dry bill made their last organized fight for an amendment by Assemblyman L. J. Peterson which sought to submit the bill to a referendum vote at the coming April election. It was rejected by a vote of 48 to 45.

1922 CARNIVAL CERTAIN; LOCAL MERCHANTS VOTE

Plans Already Started for Big Celebration to Rival One Just Ended

MARCH 10-12 ANNUAL SPRING OPENING DATE FOR STYLE SHOW

Two New Businessmen Honor Guests at Luncheon

A winter carnival for 1922 was assured at the regular monthly luncheon of the merchants' bureau at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday when the local merchants accepted the report of the committee on the carnival recently ended and were unanimous for a continuation of the program for next year.

The committee which had charge of the recent carnival will have complete charge of next year's event and plans are already under way to make it bigger and better than anything ever attempted along similar lines here.

J. M. Lambert, new manager of the local branch of the Standard Oil company, and H. L. Ayers, new manager at the Latham Milling company, were honor guests at yesterday's luncheon.

As a novelty, three traveling men who make La Crosse regularly, were at the luncheon as the personal guests of Charles Hunt of the La Crosse hotel. All three of the travelers made short talks in which they outlined their opinions on present and future business conditions.

The bureau voted to hold the regular spring opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 10, 11 and 12. It was also decided at yesterday's meeting to hold a style show some time in the spring. Details will be announced later.

HIXON GYMNASIUM IN HIGH SCHOOL SCENE OF HANDICRAFT SHOW

Program Given Tonight and Friday; Public Invited Day or Evening

A description of the booths of the vocational school and the various exhibits of the high school departments will appear in Friday's La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press.

MORE THAN 5,000 visitors passed through Hixon gymnasium in the high school Wednesday afternoon and evening, viewing the work of the grade and high school pupils now on exhibition. Expressions of wonderment and delight were heard from parents who heretofore had little or no idea of the true and artistic drawing, writing and handicraft of their children from the kindergarten on through the grades to the last year in high school.

"It is the finest exhibition ever put on in the high school," said Superintendent of Schools McCormick, after inspecting the exhibits Wednesday afternoon. Two years ago 15,000 persons saw the three-day exhibit. We expect many more visitors this year. It is probable that we will have this exhibition every year or at least every two years."

Open Two More Nights
The exposition will be open tonight and Friday night from 7 o'clock to 10 and this afternoon and Friday afternoon from 2 to 5.

The kindergarten band from the Jefferson school under Miss Zierler scored the initial success of the first program of the exhibition last night. In cocked hats they looked like an animated picture book. Their diminutive figures rapped them to order and directed them throughout, giving evidence most convincing of a knowledge of the duties of each member of the band. The little melophone players carried the tune with surprising success and each instrument came in at its proper moment without hesitation. The grave and ceremonious bow of their leader acknowledging the prolonged applause concluded the number.

LANDS DRAWN IN SENTENCING OF VIOLATORS

Landis Gives Stiff Sentences to Those in Commercial Liquor Trade in United States Court Here

FIRESIDE VIOLATIONS GLASSED AND SMALL SENTENCES GIVEN

Over Seventy Persons Due to be Sentenced in Court Here Thursday

CALLED upon to sentence seventy persons convicted of violating the prohibition act and a half dozen convicted of other charges, Judge K. M. Landis convened United States court for the last day of the term at 9:30 Thursday morning.

A sharp distinction between what Judge Landis terms fire-side, good fellowship violations of the dry act and violations in which the commercial element entered marked the morning session of court. Men who had made liquor for their own use and had not attempted to sell the stuff got off much easier than those who had engaged in the traffic, either selling intoxicants in their places of business or transporting it for commercial use. Imprisonment and fines were meted out to those engaged in the traffic, while persons who had made intoxicants for their own use got off with small fines in some cases.

Revokes Official's License
Judge Landis revoked the license as United States commissioner of Stanley G. Tallman of Janesville when the latter appeared in court as attorney for Timothy McKeigue, who pleaded guilty to the charge of selling wine of peepin and other intoxicants after he had held McKeigue to the grand jury as commissioner.

Tallman said the late Judge A. L. Sanborn had informed him there was nothing in the law to prevent a commissioner appearing in court as an attorney. Judge Landis took issue with this opinion and ordered Tallman's commission revoked.

McKeigue was sentenced to 90 days in the Milwaukee house of correction and fined $500.

Madison Man Sentenced
Albert Anderson, Madison, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in the house of correction for selling moonshine.

Thomas Bates of Madison, who had a home made still, had his case continued and was allowed to go home.

Percy A. Bishop, Plattville, auctioneer who loaded his surplus stock of liquor in his auto and started to give it away to his friends after his wife started a divorce action because of his drinking, was fined $500 and his car was confiscated. Prohibition Agent Kimball charged to be in the barber shop in Plattville when Bishop entered and presented the barber with a half-pint of good old liquor.

Gets Small Fine
John Brickler, Park Falls blacksmith who had a home made still in his possession, was fined $50.

Anthony E. Bruffart, Superior, found with moonshine, wine and beer in his rooming house, was fined $100. He was also fined $100 in court at Superior.

Pronounced a "nursing baby bottle bunch of victims" by Judge Landis, George Smith, Edward Corrier, Albert LeHare, Washburn boys, who set out in an automobile with bottles of whiskey to attend a dance at Ashland, were let off with a severe reprimand and a $25 fine for each defendant.

Leo DeMars, who drove the automobile, which he said belonged to his brother, was fined $200. A motion to return the confiscated car to DeMars' brother was held in abeyance by the court.

Remember Smart Age
"I remember that age," said Judge Landis. "The boy of nineteen or twenty feels that he has to go out and spend his hard-earned cash for liquor although the drinking of it gags him and gags him, and then he goes to a dance and blows his breath at his best girl, and thinks he is a man. They all have to live through it."

"Twenty years from now," said the court, turning to the four boys, "you will look back on this occurrence and say that the drinking of moonshine was the smallest thing you did."

Receiving assurance from the boys that they were through with moonshine, the court assessed the small fines under the belief, he said, that "they are now old enough to be waned."

Joseph Carr, Mercer hotel keeper whose bartender sold liquor without his knowledge, he said, was sentenced to 90 days and fined $250 by the court.

Sent Home to Family
When Judge Landis learned that Stephen DeLach, Price county farmer who had a still and moonshine for his own use, has a wife suffering from tuberculosis and children, he ordered the man to go home to his family, continuing his case.

HOOVER ACCEPTANCE OF CABINET PLACE PUT UP TO HARDING

Leaves it to President-elect to Decide Whether He Shall Accept Post

PROPOSES REORGANIZATION OF COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Can Be Made More Useful to Nation's Commerce, He Says

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Herbert Hoover declared in a statement Thursday that he had left it to President-elect Harding to decide whether he could be of more service as secretary of commerce or as director of European relief.

In a statement dictated to the Associated Press, Mr. Hoover said: "I left it to Mr. Harding to determine whether he considered I can be of more service to the public as secretary of commerce or carrying out the public trust already entrusted to me as a private citizen."

Mr. Hoover also announced that he had put up to President-elect Harding a proposal for the general reconstruction and enlargement of the commerce department.

Asked if he would enter the cabinet if his views were met, he said he had not "put it up to Mr. Harding in that way."

"It was not a question of 'Take it or leave it,'" he said.
Other considerations entering into the matter, Mr. Hoover continued, concerned European relief administration. He declared he had undertaken the responsibility of directing the expenditure of thirty or forty million dollars in Europe—money contributed by people of America, and he must continue to have general direction over that expenditure.

"As the department of commerce stands today," Mr. Hoover said, "it consists largely of a group of scientific bureaus which have only a remote connection with commerce itself."

He added that if he should accept the position he saw a way to make changes which would make of it a "real department of commerce."

CONTRACTS ARE LET FOR TWO BRIDGES, SELECT PATROLMEN

Spans Replace Old Structures on Salem - Mindoro and La Crosse-Salem Roads

Contracts were let for two bridges Wednesday by the state road and bridge committee of the county board of supervisors and the Wisconsin State Highway commission.

A reinforced concrete bridge with three 45-ft spans and 24-ft roadway will replace the old wooden covered bridge on the West Salem-Mindoro road a mile and a half north of West Salem. The contract was let to Edwin Kelly of Casanova for $18,170.

W. H. Shons of Freeport, Ill., was awarded the contract for the Smith Coulee bridge on the La Crosse-West Salem road, six miles from this city. It will have two 45-ft spans, of reinforced concrete, with 24 foot roadway. This will replace a steel truss bridge. Shons' bid was $11,889.

Spirited bidding marked the competition for these contracts. Seventeen contractors were present seeking to obtain contracts. The work of bridge building will be under the supervision of the board of supervisors, county highway commissioner and state highway commission.

T. E. Reynolds, in charge of the La Crosse office of the state highway commission, announced today that all road patrolmen had been appointed by Buffalo, Crawford, Jackson, Monroe, Trempealeau and Vernon counties for the coming season.

On Friday, March 4 sealed proposals will be received by the state commission for grading and surfacing the La Crosse-Sparta road in La Crosse County and known as Wisconsin federal aid project No. 28.

The road program for La Crosse county will be discussed at a meeting March 5 attended by J. T. Donaghey, state maintenance engineer of the state highway commission; T. E. Reynolds, of the local state highway commission office; state road and bridge committee of the county board, county highway commissioner and town chairman.

TAX PAYERS
Meet This Evening in C. of C. to Discuss City System

TAX PAYERS of the city will meet at 8 o'clock this evening in the Chamber of Commerce to discuss city property taxation and assessments, with a view to suggesting corrections of inequalities or other faults which may be brought to light.

The meeting was called several weeks ago by H. L. Taylor and Ori J. Sorensen. It is similar to a meeting held in 1920 from which the participants declare large improvements in the way of assessment were derived.

H. L. Taylor said on Thursday morning, announcing the meeting, that it would be presided over by whomsoever the meeting itself selected as its chairman. There is no set program, he said, but discussion will be invited on any subject brought up by persons in attendance. The discussion, however, Mr. Taylor said, will be strictly limited to matters concerned with city property, assessment and taxation.

An special invitation is issued to small property-owners.

Thomas Southworth Ives, prominent retired lumberman, died at his residence, 1205 Main street, at noon Thursday, after an attack of acute indigestion.

Mr. Ives was said to be in perfect health up until Sunday morning when he suffered an attack of indigestion. Although placed in the care of a physician immediately his condition became more serious until his death at 12:15 Thursday.

Thomas Southworth Ives was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1852. Coming west when at the age of 17 years, Mr. Ives lived in La Crosse until 1902, when he moved to Guttenberg, Iowa, to engage in the lumber business.

Marrying Grace Thomason in this city in 1877, Mr. Ives remained in Iowa, until 1907, when he disposed of his lumber interests after expanding them into one of the largest concerns in the state. Mr. Ives retired from active business in 1907, when he moved with his family to this city.

WILL REFUSE TO OBEY WRIT SAY LEADERS

Statement of Gompers Adopted at Washington Conference Flings Defiance to the Government

UNION DELEGATES ADOPT NEW LABOR BILL OF RIGHTS

Program Adopted by Conference Setting Forth Legislation to be Sought

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Open rebellion against the enforcement of the government of judicial injunctions in industrial disputes was declared by the 200 representatives of 109 American labor organizations, meeting here at the call of President Gompers, American Federation of Labor.

At the close of an all day session the conference adopted a statement prepared by Mr. Gompers. It depicted organized labor as being ground between industrial autocracy and bolshevism, denounced the open shop movement as cloaking a campaign to destroy unionism, and flung defiance to the government on the injunction question.

"The injunction as it is now used and abused in labor disputes is without sanction either in the constitution or in the fundamental law of the land," the statement says.

Will Refuse to Obey Writ
"It is a pure usurpation of power and authority. The only possible and practical remedy in the face of a power so usurped and so completely unjustified lies in a flat refusal on the part of labor to recognize or abide by the terms of injunctions which seek to prohibit the doing of acts which the workers have lawful and guaranteed right to do or which seek to compel workers to do those things which they have a lawful and guaranteed right to refuse to do."

"This is the only immediate course through which labor can find relief, and this course it purposes to pursue. Labor realizes fully the consequences of such a course, but in the defense of American freedom and of American institutions it is compelled to adopt this course, be the consequences what they may."

It organized labor should carry out this threat, in any of the cases in which unions have been restrained by injunction from employing methods of coercion, held contrary to law, the government would face a challenge to arrest the offenders and hale them to court for contempt.

Crowded Jails or Revolt
Enforcement of injunctions might result in sending hundreds, of not thousands, of workmen to jail.

The union leaders profess to believe that with the open shop movement growing, wages falling, unemployment increasing, high prices and profiteering continuing, and the courts outlawing some of their methods, organized labor faces the gravest crisis in its history.

They are going back to their organizations to help raise a great war chest with which to fight the employers and government enforcement of injunctions.

Labor's "bill of rights" was set forth in the following propositions for which the union leaders ask "public support and recognition":

The right of the working people to organize into trade unions for the protection of their rights and interests.

The right to, and practice of, collective bargaining by trade unions, through representatives of their own choosing.

The right to work, and to cease work, collectively.

The right collectively to bestow or withhold patronage.

The right to the exercise of collective activities in furtherance of the welfare of labor.

Legislation Labor Seeks Legislative and other proposals, the adoption of which labor will seek to procure, were summarized thus:

"Enactment by congress of legislation to protect the workers in their organized capacity against the concept that there is a property right in human labor."
"No application of the use of injunctions in industrial disputes where they would not apply in the absence of such disputes."
"Prohibition of immigration for not less than two years."
"More general application of the initiative and referendum in the political affairs of the United States and of the states."
Curbs Supreme Court
"Removal by congress of the usurped power of courts to declare unconstitutional."

PUT WHEY BUTTER ON SAME FOOTING AS DAIRY PRODUCT

Olson Bill Reported Out for Passage by Assembly Agricultural Committee

PLAN FOR COMMUNITY COUNCIL COMMISSION SLATED FOR DEATH

Kill Resolution to Call Constitutional Convention

MADISON, Wis. — Whey butter gained a point of vantage in its fight for an equal status with creamery and dairy butter Wednesday afternoon, when the assembly agricultural committee reported the Olson bill out for passage. Committee vote was 5 to 3 on the measure which would repeal the present law requiring that the whey product be conspicuously labeled.

The hearing brought out extended arguments of a popular and scientific nature, but failed to precipitate the acrimonious debate and argument that has characterized consideration of the subject at previous sessions. Weeks of time of the legislature have been taken up in discussing the butter subject which is of vital interest to the dairy industry of the state.

Joint hearing with the senate state affairs committee was held on the Olson bill, but the senate bill had no part in final disposal of the bill as it will go to assembly. Assemblyman William Olson, Grimsland, Lamb, Weisenhiller and Stokley voted for the measure and Assemblyman J. C. Houson, Kaufman, and H. T. Johnson against.

Kill Nye Proposal

The proposal of Senator Nye for a community council commission for the state to direct community council work of the state was recommended for killing by the senate committee on education and public welfare. The bill would have created a new commission made up of heads of present commissions with offices and a directing force in the capital. An appropriation of $15,000 was asked for the first biennium.

The senate committee on corporations, after hearing testimony on the Severson bill to repeal the law establishing reciprocal taxation of insurance and the Titus bill curtailing the waiting period for injured workmen under the workmen's compensation act, adjourned without taking any action.

Won't Call "Con Con"

Wisconsin will not have a convention to prepare a new state constitution, the assembly judiciary committee decided Wednesday for the second time within a week. Assemblyman Kiesner's resolution submitting the question to a vote of the people, which had been referred to the committee, was marked for death by a five to four vote. Assemblyman Ruffing, Dahl, Suchtjen, and Anderson dissenting.

Wallace Ingalls' proposal to revive the state party conventions was held over until March 9, when it will be a special order of business for the committee.

The Anderson bill to require clergies to submit to the eugenic marriage test upon their return to the state, and the Sullivan bill to give husbands dower rights in their wives' estates, were both marked for indefinite postponement.

The plea of the Methodist Ladies' Aid society of Palmyra, Wis., that girls under sixteen years of age be barred from acting the part of Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was given attention by the public welfare committee. A letter was addressed to the ladies informing them present laws were ample to cover the subject.

Witness Thrown Out

The public welfare committee hearing was thrown into an uproar when Chairman F. J. Peterson of Milwaukee...

MAIL PLANE CROSSES THE CONTINENT IN 33 HRS. AND 20 MIN.

Time is Little Over Two Hours Under that Fixed for Flight

NEW YORK.—Pilot E. M. Allison landed at Hazelhurst field, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30, driving a De Havilland mail plane which had left San Francisco thirty-three hours and twenty minutes before. The total distance which the plane had covered was 3,791 miles.

Allison had driven the plane from Cleveland. He had driven a west-bound plane from Hazelhurst to Cleveland. His return trip was made in remarkable time, two hours under the schedule set.

The entire journey of the De Havilland was made far under the schedule set. That was thirty-six hours. The actual time was thirty-five hours twenty minutes, but the two hours difference in time cut the flying time to 33:20.

Abroad at Home

PLACE: A motion picture theater in a remote country town.
Time: Any night.
A motion picture weekly is on the bill. First there is a scene from Dublin and then the audience in this tiny nook of the hills is taken across the channel to Paris where, on the Champs Elysee, it meets President Millerand, who has just stepped out of a limousine.
A moment or two in Paris and then to Trafalgar square, London, where a crowd of Englishmen is holding a meeting about something or other.
Now back to New York. A bit of Broadway. Some of these folks in the theater have never been on a railroad train.
Washington next! A brief stop at the White House. The president is driving out of the White House grounds. He bows and smiles and lifts his hat.
And so a pretty fair section of the world, its life and its people, is brought to this village in a pocket of the hills.
In its function as a tourist's guide who can take remote communities around the world on a beam of light, the movie performs an important civilizing service.

Good News

WITH two exceptions, the cabinet which is reported definitely to have been selected by President-elect Harding will strike the country, probably, as an old-line political proposition. The cabinet offices have been carefully distributed geographically according to the best canons of the McKinley period, and the motive of reward for political service is plainly evident.
But the two exceptions are notable ones. The selection of Charles E. Hughes for secretary of state, and that of Herbert Hoover as secretary of commerce, take the incoming cabinet's level of proved ability and statesmanship to an immensely greater height than it would have reached had those portfolios been given to men of the average type of Daugherty, Weeks, Mellon or Hayes. One cannot say, of course, that the latter gentlemen will not develop into department heads of extraordinary merit. But Hughes and Hoover are already proved and tested. They are known to the country and to the world as liberal leaders of high vision, and of the most uncompromising devotion to the free principles of America. In a cabinet which might otherwise be launched under a handicap of progressive suspicion they stand out as the antithesis of the smallness and obstinacy of reaction.
The office of secretary of state has from the beginning of our government carried with it tremendous importance and responsibility. Its incumbent is in charge of the vital matter of the relations between this country and foreign nations, and there have been a few secretaries of state who were even bigger men in the eyes of the world than the presidents they served. To this great office Charles E. Hughes brings qualities of brain, experience and disposition which augur well for the maintenance of its lofty tradition. As a firm believer in world organization for peace, as a tried defender of the constitutional liberties of the people from the attacks of both reactionary and radical extremists, his record justifies Mr. Harding's announced policy of giving him a free hand in the state department, and there is every reason to hope that he will successfully cope with the present tangle of our foreign affairs.
Mr. Hoover's office is one that has been less important in the past than the portfolio of the state department, but the present situation both at home and abroad no less than the character of the next incumbent promises it a position of increasing prominence. The department of commerce is pre-eminently a place for practical, far-sighted business ability, touched with progressive idealism and based upon intimate knowledge of foreign and domestic conditions. And these are the particular qualities of Herbert Hoover. In and after the great war, when the world had to find a man who could not only do an enormous job but do it with sympathy and human understanding, Hoover was the man.

For many months after the armistice Hoover managed Europe far more than could any of its squabbling governments, and it is the verdict of every thoughtful student of conditions since the peace that the recovery of Europe will eventually be brought about only through the adoption of the greater part of the policies which have been suggested by this American engineer. To obtain this powerful world figure as an executive of the American government will be a promise of the most hopeful nature.

With Hughes and Hoover at his elbow, President Harding will be fortified against the pressure of the "men who know exactly what they want" and whose influence was the wreck of the last republican administration. That he has had the wisdom to place the two in his official family, despite the hostility evoked in powerful political quarters, is perhaps the best piece of news that the United States at large has heard since the close of the campaign of 1920.

The Job of Killing a Man

THE Utah legislature has repealed its infamous "shotgun execution" law, and will hereafter electrocute condemned murderers. The gun was no improvement over the gallows, Utah found. Hence the electric chair.
Utah, you remember, inaugurated the "shotgun execution" some years ago. Murderers were given the "privilege" of choosing between the rope and the bullet. Most elected to be launched into eternity by aid of the gun.
So far, so good.
The law provided that five citizens should be chosen to do the shooting.
At the last "shotgun execution" seventy-five men applied for the job.
Only five were chosen, and were paid $70 each for sending a bullet into a human heart.
That shooting set the state to thinking. Some citizens argued that such a large list of ready shooters indicated a growing desire to take human life, legally, and for a price, of course, but killing, just the same.
There were more applicants for the shooting job at the last execution than at others; the list of ready killers seemed growing.
Utah decided to call a halt before the state was crowded with men overly anxious to take human life at $70 per shot.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
John H. Marden, contractor, has started action against the city of La Crosse to discontinue the use of the interstate fair grounds or in lieu of the discontinuance of the use of grounds to pay for damages to the abutting property which he says has been rendered unsalable because of the stalls and stables on the fair grounds. "The legal point upon which the case will be fought will be that the property occupied by the fair grounds was acquired by condemnation proceedings and that therefore it can be used for park purposes only."
Upon investigation it has been found that Theodore Schulze, socialist candidate for mayor of La Crosse is legally disqualified for the office. The city charter expressly prohibits an unnaturalized citizen from holding office and the supreme court forbids an unnaturalized citizen to be elected and hold office. While the incident created much comment socialists are convinced no legal action could prove that their candidate is qualified and have withdrawn him from the race.

With the support of north side business men and aldermen behind it the plan of establishing a north side bathing beach is expected to have clear sailing when the matter is brought before the council. The park commission has promised to take care of the bathing beach and the baths if they are established.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
George Rose and Harry Holway returned home today from a two months' trip to the west. They visited cities in Montana, Washington, Oregon, British Columbia and California.

A dispatch from Livingston, Montana, reports that what is regarded as the richest gold strike ever known in that section of the state has just been made by Andrew McNulty of South Dakota and his brother Joseph McNulty of La Crosse, in three claims of the Milwaukee-Montana company. The claims have revealed gold quartz and also copper in paying quantities. A score or more of La Crosse persons have bought shares in the mine.

This morning at ten o'clock every whistle on the Milwaukee road blew for a period of fifteen minutes in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the operation of the railroad in the state. The Milwaukee and Mississippi road opened on February 24, 1851 and extended from Milwaukee to Waukesha.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY
The fire at the St. Cloud street fire station last week was caused by too hot a fire in the furnace. Stoves have been set up to furnish heat for the building as it is thought too many accidents occur from the use of the furnace.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Russel have departed for a visit to the Pacific coast.

Special Indian Agent J. A. Cooper has arrived in the city to pay off the Winnebago Indians in this vicinity. Moses Poquette, the interpreter, will accompany him.
Rev. W. D. Thomas has returned from a trip to the east.

CHAPTER IV
Which Presents Other Log Cabin Folk and the First Steps in the Making of a New Home and Certain Capacities of Abe.

Next morning at daylight two parties went out in the woods to cut timber for the home of the new-comers. In one party were Harry Noodles carrying two axes and a well filled lunchbox; Samson with a saw in his hand and the boy Abe on his back; Abe with saw and axe and a small jug of root beer and a book tied in a big red handkerchief and slung around his neck. When they reached the woods Abe cut a pole for the small boy and carried him on his shoulder to the creek and said:
"Now you sit down here and keep order in this little frog city. If you hear a frog say anything improper you fetch him a whack. Don't allow any nonsense. We'll make you mayor of Frog City."
The men fell to with axes and saws while Harry limbed the logs and looked after the mayor. Their huge muscles flung sharp axes into the timber and gnawed through it with the saw. Many big trees fell before noon time when they stopped for luncheon. While they were eating Abe said:
"Why reckon we better saw out a few boards this afternoon. Need 'em for the doors. We'll tote a couple of logs up on the side of that knoll, put 'em on skids an' whip 'em up into boards with the saw."
Samson took hold of the middle of one of the logs and raised it from the ground.
"I guess we can carry 'em," he said.
"Can ye shoulder it?" Abe asked.
"Easy," said Samson as he raised an end of the log, stepped beneath it and resting its weight on his back, soon got his shoulder near its center and swung it clear of the ground and walked with it to the knoll-side where he let it fall with a resounding thump that shook the ground. Abe stopped eating and watched every move in this remarkable performance. The ease with which the big Vermont lumberjack so defied the law of gravitation with that unwieldy stick amazed him.
"That thing'll weigh from seven to eight hundred pounds," said he. "I reckon you're the stoutest man in this part of the state an' I'm quite a man myself. I've lifted a barrel of whisky and put my mouth to the bung hole. I never drink it."
"Say," he added as he sat down and began eating a doughnut. "If you ever his anybody take a sledge hammer or a crowbar. It wouldn't be decent to use your fist."
"Don't talk when you've got food in your mouth," said Joe who seemed to have acquired a sense of responsibility for the manners of Abe.
"I reckon you're right," Abe laughed. "A man's ideas ought not to be mingled with cheese and doughnuts."
"Once in a while I like to try myself in a lift," said Samson. "It feels good. I don't do it to show off. I know there's a good many men stouter than I be. I guess you're one of 'em."
"No, I'm too stretched out—my neck is too far from the ground," Abe answered. "I'm like a crowbar. If I can get my big toe or my fingers under anything I can pry some."
After luncheon he took off his shoes and socks.
"When I'm working hard I always try to give my feet a rest and my brain a little work at noon time," he remarked. "My brain is so far behind the procession I have to keep putting the end on it. Give me twenty minutes of Kleenex and I'll be with you again."
He lay down on his back under a tree with his back in hand and his feet resting on the tree trunk well above him. Soon he was up and at work again.
They hewed a flat surface on opposite sides of the log which Samson had carried and peeled it and raised its lower end on a cross timber. Then they marked it with a chalk line and sliced it into inch-boards with a whip saw. Abe standing on top of the log and Samson beneath it. Suddenly the saw stopped. A clear, beautiful voice flung the music of Sweet Nightingale into the woodland. The men stood silent like those hearing benediction. The singing ceased. Still they listened for half a moment. It was as if a spirit had passed and touched them.
"It's Bim—the little vixen!" said Abe tenderly. "She's hiding here in the woods somewhere."
Abe straightened up and peered through the bushes. The singing ceased.
"I can see her curls. Come out from behind that tree—your piece of Scotch goods!" Abe shouted.
Only silence followed his demand. "Come on," Abe persisted. "There's a good looking boy here and I want to introduce you."
"Ask him to see if he can find me," said the voice of the girl from a distance.
Abe beckoned to Harry and pointed to the tree behind which he had seen her hiding. Harry stealthily approached it only to find that she had gone. He looked about for a moment but could not see her. Soon they heard a little call, suggesting effendi

WHAT DO YOU INTEND TO BECOME?—EXPERT ADVERTISING WORKER?
("What a Boy Can Become.")
How would you like to be an advertising man—an expert?
There are numerous jobs in advertising that range from the position of the writer of the "copy" for the ads to that of the advertising manager himself.
The advertising manager is employed by large stores and concerns as a necessary part of the business and it is he who supervises the publicity of the firm and its goods.
Then, there are advertising agents—men who handle the advertising of concerns which are too small, or which do not care to maintain their own advertising department. The agent generally handles everything. He prepares the "copy," and places the advertisements in the newspapers, in the street cars, on the bulletin boards, etc.
There is a very large number of these agents throughout the country, and their business is a thriving one. Advertising in all its branches generally pays well.
What should a fellow know to be a good advertising man?
Broadly, everything he can cram into his head. But mainly he should know people—what they think, how they think, and what they like and want. Also, he should be able to write clear, forcible English, and, inasmuch as advertising is a form of salesmanship, experience as a salesman is always helpful.
A large part of this training may be had in schools. In high school you may learn to write clean-cut, everyday English, and in schools of commerce there are offered special courses in advertising which will teach you many of the fine points of the business. But real, honest-to-goodness experience as a salesman and in the advertising of goods is the main thing.
There are numerous magazines such as "Printers' Ink," 185 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y., which are devoted to the business and carry many valuable suggestions. [Tomorrow: Opportunities Public Libraries Offer Ambitious Girls]

Couples seat themselves in chairs scattered two by two about the room, and secretly think of the name of some fish. One couple, which are called the "whales," are without chairs, however, and must walk about the room calling out the names of fish. The other couples, as the names of their fishes are called, fall in line behind the whales.
When the whales have exhausted their supply of fish names they call, "The ocean is calm." At this all the remaining couples fall in line.
The whales, after the fashion of "follow the leader," lead the string about the room, between chairs, etc., until suddenly they call "The ocean is stormy." All the players immediately run in couples for chairs. The two left without chairs are the whales, and the game is repeated.

The women of the village had met at a quilting party at ten o'clock with Mrs. Martin Wadleigh. There Sarah had had a seat at the table and heard all the gossip of the countryside. The nimble fingered Ann Rutledge—a daughter of the tavern folk—had sat beside her. Ann was a slender, good-looking girl of seventeen with blue eyes and a rich crown of auburn hair and a fair skin well browned by the sunlight. She was the most dexterous needle worker in New Salem. It was Mrs. Peter Lukins, a very lean, red haired woman with only one eye which missed no matrimonial prospect—who put the ball in play so to speak.
"Ann, if Honest Abe gives you, you'll have to spend the first three months making a pair of breeches for him. It'll be a mile o' sewin'."

WISCONSIN PLACED AT TOP OF LIST FOR EXCELLENCE OF STATE INSTITUTIONS

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin penal and charitable institutions, and county jails and poor-houses are among the best in the country, investigators of the Rockefeller foundation reported to the state board of public affairs Wednesday night after a year's investigation.

Dr. Anderson, of the foundation, reporting the findings of his field force in a 25,000 word summary of their investigations, said that when compared with conditions in other states which are under investigation Wisconsin will stand near the top of the list.

Seven investigators have been working in Wisconsin for the past year, making an exhaustive examination of the state's feeble-minded, epileptic, insane and criminal population. The report recommended some changes in the administration of the work for the relief of the state's unfortunate, but said no new agencies or new appropriations are necessary as coordination of the existing work will be sufficient.

Governor John J. Blaine, chairman of the board of affairs, ordered the report sent to the legislature.

BOWLEY DENIES INTERVIEW

February 22, 1921.

Editor, Tribune and Leader-Press:

Believing that your columns are always open to "first hand" information even when it may differ from items which have previously appeared, I beg to hand you herewith a letter lately received from the national office of the Lord's Day Alliance. You may recall your article of some ten days ago, in which a falsified interview report of mine from the general secretary of the alliance was made the basis of critical editorial comment.

Feeling that you, along with many other impartial editors, and even a few motion picture men, have been misled by this propaganda, I at once took occasion to clip the editorial and forward it to the national office for verification. The following reply speaks for itself.

New York, February 18, 1921.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of 14th inst., would say that the purported "interview" quoted in the editorial you enclose, is virtually a tissue of lies from beginning to end. I am amazed that so many reputable papers would print such "bunk," without direct inquiry as to their truthfulness from headquarters. I have had a good many similar letters to answer. One of the best answers I could give to those statements about "putting garments on the statutory" is—that, when questions of almost this exact wording were asked me by some newspaper correspondents, I told them such queries were absurd; but they went out and answered them to suit themselves. The lies in these two paragraphs alone are only another proof of the extensive operations of the propaganda. (signed)

H. L. BOWLEY, Gen'l. Secy.

Now it has been known for some time that the "propaganda," referred to above, had its origin with certain commercial amusement and sporting interests, which have taken advantage of the psychological reaction against "regulations" of all kinds enforced during the war, to foist upon an unwitting and impartial public certain fictitious absurdities regarding the old colonial laws of New England. That there was no truth in those archaic "Tory libels," of an enemy of the United States is well authenticated by historians like John Fiske. Nevertheless, the "Per-centenary of the Landing of the Pilgrims" was seized by the loose thinking promoters of commercial sports and cheap amusements as an opportunity for under-landed press comment with a view to giving prominence to Sunday rest.

The Lord's Day Alliance is not a radical reform agency; but a representative of the leading Protestant denominations of America. Hand in hand with labor organizations it has influenced legislation looking to one "rest day" in seven. It gave the post-employment of our cities such a day. But absurd and radical perversion of its mission have become widespread for above necessary reasons. Unfortunately, they have been taken over also by certain religious sects, noted for radicalism and eccentricities. While these enthusiasts are making a "bug-a-boo" of their apparent fears, there are, at the same time, promoting other freakish principles of "religion."

Yet it is not so much from the "religious" standpoint that Christian Science churches have encouraged the alliance as from that of social and economic fairness. Like the temperance question (the late settlement of which is another reason for reaction by the lawless element) this question is only INDIRECTLY religious. No honest interpreter of Scripture will say that the church, in the name of religion, can or is trying to force people into its associations. Indeed, the churches represented by the alliance have always recognized that neither threats nor coercion should be the basis of appeal; but rather "who so ever will." This means liberty of conscience, rather than narrow, absurd, strait-jacket legislation; and, we believe it is in accord with the true spirit of America. Information rather than reformation is the mission of the alliance.

Honest Advertising

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher honestly advertised, honestly placed before the public, and from which he honestly expects to receive his reward.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher

"Here's Real Tobacco" says the Good Judge

That gives a man more genuine chewing satisfaction than he ever got out of the ordinary kind. Smaller chew, lasts longer—so it costs less to chew this class of tobacco.

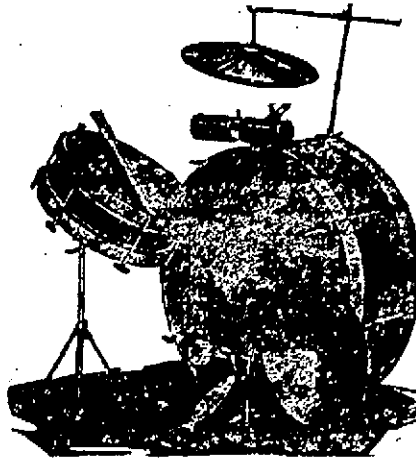

And the good, rich tobacco taste gives a world of satisfaction.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

General Publicity

Versus

Applied Advertising

THERE are two kinds of advertising. One kind is called "general publicity." Sometimes it is further described in phrases like "atmosphere building," "national prestige," or appeal to "key consumers."

It is the glittering generality of thinly spread, country-wide appeal—the hit-or-miss way of trying to sell goods.

The other kind of advertising is "applied advertising."

There is nothing mysterious or indefinite about it. It is simply advertising in the columns of daily newspapers concentrated in the markets where the advertiser has a chance to sell goods.

It is definite, for it reaches all possible customers. Usually it tells them the merchant who sells the advertised goods.

Applied advertising makes sales. Its results can be weighed and measured. It either pays or it does not. It generally does pay, and if it does not, the reason why can be quickly ascertained.

Manufacturers and distributors are today turning to newspaper advertising, for these are the days of intensive selling.

They want applied advertising because this is the kind that keeps the cash register bell ringing.

MANUFACTURERS and distributors interested in the solution of problems of modern merchandising are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, 806 World Building, New York, for a copy of the book, "National Advertising and the Newspaper."

U.S. NOTE PROTESTS RULE OF JAPAN IN THE ISLAND OF YAP

Never Gave its Consent to the Arrangement League Council is Told

SUMMARY OF NOTE MADE PUBLIC BY THE COUNCIL

Demand Voice in Disposal of German Property

PARIS.—By the Associated Press.
The United States government in its note to the council of the League of Nations on the question of managing claims on German property and interest with the other principal allied and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany and in their disposition.

This was shown when the note sent by the American state department and all before the council of the league
Wednesday was made public.
The council again took up the note
Thursday, considering it with particular reference to this claim advanced to the United States. Some of the other members held that America had permitted such rights by withdrawing its associated power from the league council.

In the summary of the note, made public Wednesday, it was revealed that the United States declared it had never given its consent that the island of Yap, an important link in the chain of cable communications in the Pacific, be included in the territories submitted to the mandate of Japan.

The principal feature of the note, in addition to the points contained in the summary, was the American contention of equal rights and interest in disposing of Germany's overseas possessions. On this the note said:

"As one of the principal allied and associated powers the United States has equal concern and inseparable interest with the other principal allied and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany, and consequently an equal voice in their disposition which it is respectfully submitted cannot be undertaken or effected without its consent."

VOTE EMERGENCY FUNDS FOR STATE BOARD OF CONTROL

State Institutions in Hole by More than Million Finance Committee is Told

MADISON, Wis.—The entire problem of state finances and the relation of Wisconsin's present financial policy to the huge departmental deficits will be aired on the floor of the legislature as a result of the decision of the joint finance committee Wednesday night to approve the 644,848.93 deficiency bill for the state board.

The finance committee found no fault with the board's management of the institutions, and agreed with the board members that their showing of an average per capita expenditure of seventy-five cents a day on the inmates was very good. The fact remains, however, that with $400,000 already granted by the emergency board, the board of control has exceeded the legislature's appropriation by more than a million dollars, and finance committee members declared cutting of the board's requests was only "passing the buck" to future legislatures and a foolish policy which should be stopped.

MRS. GEORGE R. REAY ENJOYS CELEBRATION ON WASHINGTON DAY

UPON the occasion of the celebration of Washington's birthday Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church, Mrs. George R. Reay entertained in honor of her anniversary, which falls on the same date. A long table had been reserved for the guests which was festively decorated with flowers, butchers and cherries, and illuminated with crimson candles in crystal chandeliers. A handsomely trimmed birthday cake, a flag being brought out with colored sugar, and dishes with tiny red tapers, marked the center of the table. Covers were laid for twenty.

Following the serving of supper the merry party repaired to the home of the hostess, where the evening was most delightfully spent. Mrs. Reay received a shower of messages of congratulations, flowering plants and pretty gifts, among the latter being a half dozen sterling silver spoons from the guests. These present were Mesdames Floris Stellingware, Maria
Keith, A. A. Bentley, S. B. Oarman,
B. F. Holmes, A. W. Schall, Fred
Leithold, H. A. Greene, G. F. Saxenau,
A. Porter, C. C. Barton, J. H. Murrel, D. C. Dyer and C. V. Whitcomb of Houston, and the Misses Florence Bal-dy, Grace Cameron, Clara Bembie, Abbie Becker and Gertrude Berndt of Hokah.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Lorenz, who reside about nine miles south of the city on the Chas.-burg road, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Wednesday. Over sixty of their neighbors and other friends were in attendance to enjoy the festivity.
Rev. B. C. Brandenburg, pastor of the North Side German Methodist church, offered an appropriate prayer. Rev.
J. L. Panzian, pastor of the Salzer Memorial church, gave an address, choosing for his topic "The Christian Home." Following this the guests formed in line and offered the bride and bridegroom of twenty-five years heartily congratulations, compliments and good wishes with expressions of blessings, happiness and prosperity plentifully distributed through the coming years. Many valuable gifts were presented to them.

A rather unique phase of the celebration was that a daughter, Miss Emma Lorenz, appeared in the wedding gown and veil which were worn by her mother twenty-five years ago.
The style of that period displayed fashion and style indicative of good taste and modesty. A sumptuous repast was served. The event was a most delightful celebration and upon their departure the guests again extended felicitations.

UPON THE OCCASION of his birthday, Otto Ranner was pleasantly surprised at the home of his mother, 117 1/2 South Second street, on Tuesday evening. Dancing and music contributed to the pleasure of the evening and lunch was served at ten o'clock. A large birthday cake lighted by candles featured the table. The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames A.
H. Ranner, Charles Ranner, John Ran-ner and family, Mrs. Charles Zahel of Prairie du Chien and a number of other friends.

MRS. D. C. DYER and Mrs. C. V.

few days of Mrs. George R. Reay.

ance.

MRS. ANLEY COOPER was pleasantly surprised by a party of neighbors and friends at her new home, 2220 Prospect street, in compliment to her birthday on Tuesday. Luncheon was served and Mrs. Cooper was presented with a purse of money.

MR. AND MRS. William Rushing, 211 North Twenty-third street, entertained thirty-five guests in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding day.
Dancing and music afforded entertainment and refreshments were served at midnight.

ON MONDAY afternoon the mothers of the kindergarten and first grade children of the Jefferson school held their fifth mothers' meeting. The

SENIOR BUSINESS BOYS EASILY BEAT BUSINESS COLLEGE

Capt. Voss Scores 17 of 27 Points; Business College Allowed Two Baskets

With Captain Voss scoring seven-point points and playing a stellar floor game, the Business Boys went on record for another victory Wednesday night when they defeated the La Crosse Business college basketball team at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, 27 to 4.

Although winning by a decisive score, the Business Boys failed to display their usual standard of game, while the Business college team seemed incapable of accurate shots.

The play during the first half was easily the better, the score being 8 to 2. Putting themselves together displaying better team work, the Business Boys leaped ahead in the final period, and with the noble assistance of Capt. Voss the team succeeded in piling up 19 points. Capt. Voss scored eight field goals and one free throw.

The Business Boys will be pitted against the New Albin high school team on the "Y" floor Thursday night when an exciting battle is expected. The English Lancers will meet the Business Boys seconds in the preliminary game.

The lineup of the teams are as follows: Senior Business Boys—Capt. Voss and Penger, forwards; Fredericksen, center; Fisher and Stein, guards; La Crosse Business College—Smith and Sandman, forwards; Friday, center; Casper and Klarad, guards.

17 STATES PLACE 60 DAY BAN ON CHARLEY WHITE

NEW YORK—Charley White, Chicago lightweight boxer, has been suspended for sixty days in seventeen states by the National Boxing association.

The decision, announced here Wednesday by Tex Rickard, secretary of the association, is the first one of importance since the organization of the association, and it backs up the decision of the Wisconsin state commission, which suspended White for stalling in a recent bout in Kenosha.

HIGH SCHOOL QUINTET IN FINAL GAME OF SEASON AT PORTAGE FRIDAY NIGHT

The final game of the basketball season for Coach Meade's quintet will be pulled off Friday night when the local tossers will be entertained by Portage. Although the odds circulating in the halls of the school has it that the local team will be an easy winner, the fact that the Portage aggregation will battle at top speed for a victory over La Crosse, is well known.

Portage has smoothed off the ragged edge on their playing which was so evident when they were defeated here the first of the month 34 to 17. They have met all the strong contenders in their vicinity, and have defeated all save La Crosse, but after the improvement they have shown lately, and by the fact that the game will be played on a small floor, which always hampers Meade's warriors, the outcome is greatly in doubt. The district championship will be held the 11th and 12th of March. The probable teams in this district tournament will be La Crosse, Mauston, Tomah, Prairie du Chien, Galesville, Reedsburg and Hillsboro.

CHALLENGE

Senior Business Boys Will Meet Marinellas at Any Time

The management of the Senior Business Boys basketball team today placed a challenge to the Marinella basketball aggregation for a game, or a series of games to be played at the Y. M. C. A. at a time convenient to both teams. It was said that the challenge might either be accepted or refused through the columns of this page.

JUDGE LANDIS WOULD PUNISH WAGERERS ON BASEBALL GAMES

Declares Bribing Will Not Offset if Betting is Curbed; Offense Should be Felony

BOSTON, Mass.—The arm of the law should be long enough to permit it to reach the bleachers and stands at baseball parks and call to account all who bet on games, in the opinion of Judge K. M. Landis, baseball's supreme arbiter.

Judge Landis, in a letter received today by Representative Hugh J. Lacey of Holyoke, commenting on the latter's bill in the legislature to penalize players or others participating in the throwing of games, said he thought the offense should be a felony, with a penalty of from two to five years' imprisonment.

Mr. Lacey's bill provides a year's prison sentence or $500 fine or both. The provisions of the law should extend to all betters, large and small, Judge Landis said. If there is not betting there will be no bribing of players, he added.

COACH STAGG GIVEN SETBACK BY GOPHER AGGREGATION, 24-19

Illini Defeated; Remain at Tie With Indiana for First Place in Conference

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The Minnesota basketball team last night administered another setback to Coach Stagg's Chicago unit at the University armory, the Gophers winning, 24 to 19. It was a ragged game, with the Gophers making a majority of their points by long, sensational shots from almost every position on the floor.

In the first half Minnesota went along nicely against the tame Maroons, the count being 13 to 6 at the end of the period, but the Chicago guards played sensational ball in the last half and stopped almost every Gopher who came down the floor.

Oss' sensational floor work and defensive play had a lot to do with Minnesota's victory.

Purdue, 28; Illinois, 19

URBANA, Ill.—Led by Captain White, Purdue's five ambushed the Illini last night, winning, 28 to 19. The defeat put Illinois back into a tie for first place with Indiana.

HOPPE'S FORFEIT WITHDRAWN FOR HOREMAN'S PLAY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—R. E. Benjamin, manager of Willie Hoppe, billed champion, announced here Wednesday night that he had withdrawn the forfeit of $2,500 which he recently posted in Chicago for a match with Edouard Horemans, Belgian expert, and that the match would not be held, as the principals could not come to terms.

ALTROCK WORTH $50,000

WASHINGTON—Clark Griffith says he would turn down an offer of $50,000 for Nick Altrock, the comedian of baseball. "Nick's" value, unlike a player's, increases with age, says Griffith.

"FATTY" WROTE IT
 AND "FATTY" PLAYS IT
 A "ramp" on her own home grounds is had enough, but when she includes the office of a poor defenseless underling with the idea of making him howl first time to call the police, so "Fatty" thinks in his new Paramount feature comedy, "The Life of the Party," coming to the Rivoli Theater today Friday and Saturday, but happily his difficulties solve themselves before the bluecoat is summoned. For, while seeking to snuggle closer to her victim's desk chair, the "ramp" finds herself sitting upon the buzzers that call his office force, and "Fatty" is saved.

"The Life of the Party" was adapted from Irvin S. Cobb's Saturday Evening Post story of the same name and serves as Mr. Arbuckle's first straight dramatic vehicle. He has the role of a poor defenseless underling, of a coach of female ladies undertakes to coach the Milk Trust before his task is completed, he becomes involved in a pettifog fight and also has some highly amusing experiences while returning from a masquerade party.

The supporting cast includes Viola Daniel, Frank Campana and Julia Payne, Joseph Henneberg directed the picture. Mr. Arbuckle appears by arrangement with Joseph M. Schenck.

"YOUNG MRS. WINTHROP" Rhymed Review of the current film at the Majestic by Russell Holman.
 Butterfly-wife, with the heart of a girl.
 Eager for pleasure and praise;
 Husband absorbed in the business which,
 Scorning her frivolous ways,
 Patient, both strive to start life anew.
 Obstacles loom in their way;
 Tragedy smites them, but brings to the two Hope for a sunnier day.
 "Young Mrs. Winthrop"—a picture from life.
 Packed full of heart-throbs and thrills;
 Ethel Clayton is fine as the wife;
 Better not miss this great bill!

"U. P. TRAIL"—BIJOU
 A love story of surpassing sweetness built on the old tried and true triangle combination between two women and a man, is the foundation of Benjamin J. Hampton's great photoplay, "The U. P. Trail," which is at the Bijou Theater today. The man in the case is young "Wayne Neale," handsome and gallant, dashing and accomplished, played in thoroughly fitting manner by Roy Stewart.

Kathlyn Williams is seen in the most powerful role of her screen career as a brilliant, beautiful heart-breaker, proprietress of a huge palace of joy, whose heart and soul fall victim to Cupid at last.

Beautiful little Marguerite De La Motte gives another of her charming, ingenuitous characterizations in the role of the innocent heroine "Allie Lee."

"The U. P. Trail," taken from the famous novel of the same name by Zane Grey, is one of the sweetest love stories ever told.

"WHITE YOUTH"—RIVIERA
 Edith Roberts returns to the screen in "White Youth" after four months' vacation spent in New York and on the Atlantic Coast, her first picture since "The Adorable Savage" shows at the Riviera Theater today. "White Youth" is a story of modern Louisiana; a girl just from school, a safe-cracker within the law, a wonderfully-stocked wine cellar, and a priceless cigarette holder presented to an old Creole by the Empress Eugenie. The result is said to be an ultra-modern romance with a picturesque aging in the class. Miss Roberts appears as the granddaughter of a proud old Creole general. She has been raised in a school and knows little of the world until her grandfathers writes that he will send her in a few days to meet the man he has selected as her husband.

The cast includes Arnold Gregg, Alfred Hollingsworth, Thomas Jefferson and Dottie Peters.

OSCAR TVETEN, HOUSTON, DIES
 HOUSTON, Minn.—Tveten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Tveten of Indig Valley, died at a Minneapolis hospital recently, from an attack of pneumonia. The body was brought to Houston for burial from the Evangelical Free church, Rev. Ostrem and Johanson officiating. Prof. Paulsen, of the Minneapolis Bible Institute, also took part in the services. Deceased was a member of this institute and was twenty-five years old. He was studying to become a missionary in foreign missionary fields.

One hundred and twenty persons are required to handle the private telephone switchboard in a large New York hotel.

MONROE COUNTY IS THIRD IN STATE FOR DRAINAGE WORK DONE

TOMAIL, Wis.—Monroe county stands third in the state in the number of acres of drained marsh lands, and the amount of money expended in drainage projects. To date, there are in the district 61,110 acres of reclaimed lands for which the sum of $165,111 was expended. The greater part of these acres are at present used as cranberry marshes. The county is the name given the largest drainage ditch, and it presents the appearance of a natural stream of water, except that its course is in a straight line instead of in natural curves. This and many other drainage ditches in the county furnish perfect drainage, and an abundant supply of water at all seasons of the year. Land owners who paid their share toward the project years ago have never regretted the money spent, as it has been paid back several times over in cranberries and other valuable crops.

MONEY CREEK CREAMERY PATRONS ARE PAID $61,990

There were 131,281 1-2 lbs. of butter churned and for the wholesale and retail sale of this, there was received the sum of $68,897.30. Patrons were paid $61,990.49 for cream.

AUTHOR OF LINCOLN PLAY TO LECTURE AT NORMAL ON FRIDAY

Appearance of John Drinkwater Notable Event of the Season

Many persons become as much interested in a poet because of his personality as of account of his poetry. Many know more about Burns, Poe and Riley as men than they know about the poetry of these authors. It is a pleasure to know that in the case of John Drinkwater, who lectures at the Normal school on Friday evening, there is a strong personality whose career one may follow with interest in future years. Having seen and heard Drinkwater, we shall from this time find interest in whatever he does and whatever he writes.

Concerning this prominent figure in English literary life, the Illinois State Journal says:

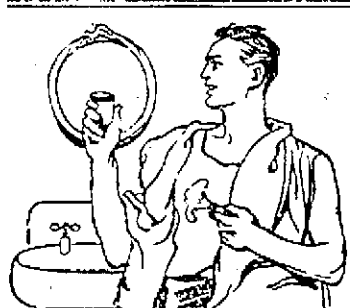

"The most remarkable thing about John Drinkwater, the poet, is John Drinkwater, the man. His genuineness is so patent, his sympathies so markedly sincere, and his manner so simple and direct that however true was what he had to say, and however delightful were the poems he read, it was the man himself, behind and in it all, that so quickly won the splendid appreciation of the large audience which greeted him yesterday. This is not to say that his poetry is not true and beautiful. It is beauty's self. But it is a way of emphasizing the veritable magic with which he can atmosphere his poems by the charm and feeling with which he reads them."

High praise for his lectures and readings come from very many sources. Among the reviews one of the most interesting is that of the Indianapolis Star:

"As a lecturer Mr. Drinkwater was a distinct success. In his talk on Abraham Lincoln his remarkably clear enunciation, and his comparative freedom from English mannerisms in speech, rather surprised his hearers, who were accustomed to a much broader accent and more words varying in pronunciation from their own. In the course of his lecture, Mr. Drinkwater read the opening chorus of his play, 'Abraham Lincoln,' and also the final chorus, both in pleasing verse. He then read with dramatic effect a number of poems, all of a wonderfully musical character, perfect in rhyme and rhythm, and the most of them of delicate poetic sentiment. The attendance at the theater was large."

THIEVES LOOT SPARTA HOME OF DR. STILES; FAMILY IN CALIFORNIA

SPARTA, Wis.—During the absence of the family of Dr. Vernon Stiles in California, the home had been entered by sneak thieves, occupied for an indefinite period of time, carefully overhauled and robbed. The facts were discovered a few days ago by the doctor's office girl who was sent to the home on an errand for the absent family. On entering the house, the young woman found, crumpled strewn everywhere, bureau drawers ransacked and rifled; the beds unmade, closets in disorder and signs of recent occupants everywhere. The Stiles' home is surrounded by neighboring houses, and not once since the family left Sparta several weeks ago, has a light been seen in the home. Local authorities are certain that the burglars worked during the day-time and slept at night. No accurate estimate of the amount of linen, oriental rugs, cut-glass, hand decorated china, draperies and other house furnishings taken can be made until the family returns to Sparta. On search, an open basement window revealed a possible entrance and exit for the unexpected visitors. To date, no clue as to their identity has been made.

You Will Look Your Best If You Wear One of These Silk Frocks
Easter Morning

The joy of wearing a new frock is infinitely greater when one has the inward assurance that its smart, new new lines, beautiful fabric and excellent workmanship are worthy of the admiration of your friends. Made of crisp taffetas, clinging crepe metors and Canton Crepes, those developed of the former springlike fabric in navy blue and black are quite devoted to the redingote style. Borders of embroidered eyelets or bright metal braid provide a finishing touch for their three-quarter sleeves, necklines and the rather full peplum of their coat sections.

A well known manufacturer was overstocked and accepted our cash offer for his entire surplus lot at about 50c on the dollar. This explains for the remarkably low price.

Silk Jersey Petticoats with pleated flounces in self and contrasting colors. Some have taffeta flounces. In navy, henna, taupe, rust, emerald, copen, purple, black, brown, peacock.
